Mrs. Bowers closes an engagement of six nights with a mattace this afternoon and a performance this control of the mattace this effection and a performance this events. She is in all respects the most thoroughly brilliant actress who has appeared in Coutsville for many a year. Her Mary Stuart last evening was a unity graphic and pootic illustration of one of the most graphic and pootic characters. But her resultation of the heroism of Falconer's play of "Stars," which is announced for this evening, is one-lift to the stage of this country since Charlotte Cushman and Mag Merritle is full. Those who have not seen it should by no messas miss the opportunity.

Westager Hall.

The agreeable Worsel Susters close their engagement this evening with the "Field of the Cicks of Good" and "A Kins In the Dark." The first is a joint burleage and the second a very neast farce. In both pieces the Worrells are versusfies and amusting, and, as it it this last we shall have of them, it is to be hoped they will receive a figureal as cordial as their welcome always in.
